Changi Exhibition Centre: Event Spaces for Engaging Experiences

The aviation community set the record for the largest human formation of an airplane in the Singapore Book of Records. Over 2,000 participants took part in the Aviation Run held at Changi Exhibition Centre on November 2013, raising more than S$200,000 to help the less fortunate.

Metallica staged a landmark concert in Singapore in August 2013, after a two decade absence. Over 40,000 local and international fans who gathered at Changi Exhibition Centre were overwhelmed by the mega rock concert experience unlike any other concert ever seen and heard.

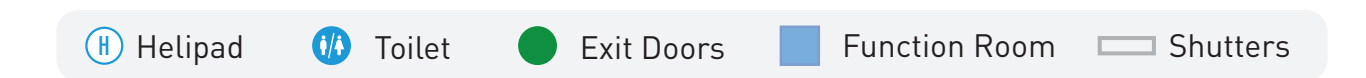

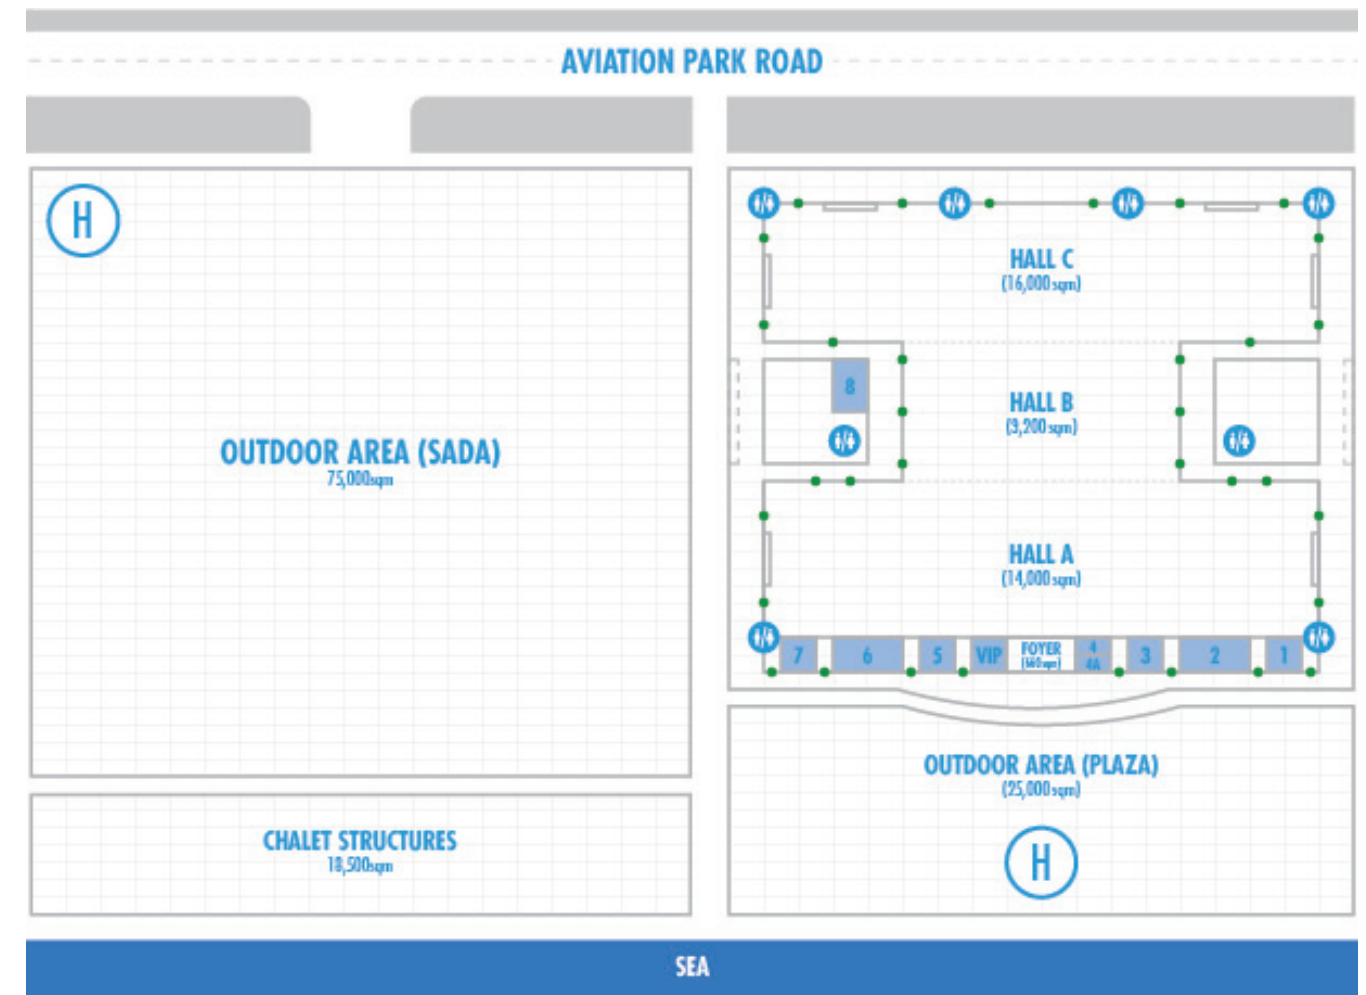

Changi Exhibition Centre is the home of the Singapore Airshow and IMDEX Asia. At the Singapore Airshow 2014, close to 70 commercial and military aircrafts were on display at the Static Aircraft Display Area situated just beside the main exhibition hall. Visitors could easily view the impressive array of advanced avionics in fighter cockpits and tour the plush cabins of luxury jets.

For the biennial IMDEX Asia, the exhibition halls are transformed into an integrated show site that encompass the exhibition, conference and warship display components. At every edition of IMDEX Asia, exhibition halls are optimally dressed into a bespoke venue for high-level and insightful conferences. The open design of the hall also facilitated exhibitors to bring in large scale, cutting edge naval technology and conduct technical demonstrations to connect key players from navies, government and industry.
